

NEW YORK LAUNDRIES WORSE THAN JUNGLE

New York strike attracts attention to deplorable conditions under which girls work—better wages and hours and closer inspection of laundries.

New York, Jan. 8.—With 25,000 laundry workers on strike and another 15,000 to go out tonight, New York today is facing the most serious laundry famine in its history.

By tomorrow it is expected that 60,000 workers will be on strike, necessitating the closing down of 600 steam and 15,000 hand laundries in New York alone.

Vin. Amory, who is conducting the strike, claims that it will involve Jersey City, Newark, and other Jersey towns to which it was hoped the metropolitan laundry might be sent.

Although the strike is yet only in its infancy, all householders have already been notified that quick work is impossible. It is believed that this condition will persist and that a general shutdown will be forced. Milk-drawers cannot well replace the strikers, because the claims against laundries for tow linen and that burned by inexperienced workers would result in such great financial loss as to make the employment of "green" hands impracticable.

"If Union strikers had worked in New York laundries he would have written a book and called it 'The Hell,'" said Margaret Blinkey, for 20 years prominent among the laundry workers of New York, today.

Speaking for her fellow, Miss Blinkey said the working conditions were wretched, the rooms filthy and unventilated and the hours 12 a day, with only a half hour for lunch, and no pay for overtime. The super-heated rooms, she said, were filled with particles of lint, and tuberculosis is common among the workers. "The women's dressing rooms, she declared, were open and exposed to the view of the men employed, and in many places men and women were forced to live in the same rooms."

Miss Blinkey declared that the average wage of $4 to $4.25 a week was forcing hundreds of girls into immorality, the more so, she insisted, as laundry was seasonal wherever it was a day's work.

"If a girl is lured by the machines," Miss Blinkey continued, "she seldom gets damages, although sometimes the laundries do pay her hospital expenses. I have heard vomited superintendents curse the girls like slaves. Child labor laws are consistently violated and girls by the hundred who are only 13 or 14 years old work constantly."

"We demand that our hours be reduced to 10 a day; we demand that the machines and other craft machinery be properly safeguarded; we demand that our wages be increased from 15 to 20 per cent, and above all, we demand that children be kept out of the 'hell shops'."

Germany in a Waiting Mood.
Berlin, Jan. 8.—The controversy now going on in America and Europe on the subject of the better pulp duties is occupying the close attention of official circles here. It is understood, however, that Germany has not taken any steps in the matter and that she is waiting in the hope that the United States Congress will make universal the exemption in that respect enjoyed by Canada, which under the act for Canadian reciprocity passed by the American Congress is accorded the free admission of wood pulp under certain stipulated conditions, or that the customs court in Washington will decide to that effect. Germany might, it is thought, in the last resort appeal to the Hague.

French Wrestler Won.
Ottawa, Jan. 8.—Bourne Tremblay, of Montreal, successfully defended his honors against George Thorne, of Detroit, in a fast wrestling bout at the Grand opera house tonight. Tremblay took the first fall in 11 minutes, and the second fall in seven minutes. The first was with a leg and body hold, and the second with a body hold. Thorne outwrestled Tremblay and put on a good fight, but Tremblay was too clever for him.

REPORT IN WINNIPEG THAT G.T.P. BRANCHES WILL BE GUARANTEED

Two conferences said to have taken place between the G.T.P. and the Chamberlain.

THE EDISON-GRANDI PHARMIE LINE TO BE GUARANTEED.

According to this report, as well as two other G.T.P. branches in the province.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 8.—It is reported here that two conferences have taken place between Premier Arthur Meek, of Alberta, Prof. Grandi, chairman of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and the G.T.P. when the Premier makes his next announcement regarding the railway policy it will include a solid guarantee for the proposed Edison-Grandi Pacific line, and for at least two other projected Alberta branches.

PACERS APPOINTED BUSINESS

Documentary Evidence of Non-Competitive Offer of a Patent to the Government. The documentary evidence in support of the government's charge that the practices of the old packers was in fact the price of their patent, and for at least two other projected Alberta branches.

The government brought the operations of the alleged illegal combination down to within the scope of the period covered by the indictment. The information was furnished by J. H. Pratt, an editor of the Edmonton company for more than 20 years and at one time, and the G.T.P. the dressed beef department.

He testified to having attended meetings of the old packers since 1906 and 1907, at which he sold patent rights of shipments to "patent" packers were decided by ballot and the profit of margin was determined by agreement among the members.

The witness identified a dozen letters he received from 1906 to 1910, and a company in support of its statements.

Three of the letters bore notations in pencil, of the highest percentages and profit margins. The witness positively identified the handwriting of Arthur Meek and said he was most certain the other memorandum were written by J. O. Armour and T. J. Conners. Pratt was on the stand when the court adjourned.

The first document introduced by the government was a copy of a resolution said to have been adopted by the packers' pool, May 9, 1906, imposing a penalty of 1-1/2 cents a pound on all over-shipments, to be collected by the packers in excess of 19,000 pounds a week above the maximum allowed.

This was said to have been sent out to members from the office of Attorney A. H. Vender. The next was a letter, dated Jan. 13, 1907, for the territories A. C. D. and E. Pratt testified a letter dated Oct. 13, 1904, addressed to J. O. Armour, which read:

"I attach herewith margin memorandum for the week. We shipped 92 1-2 per cent. to Armour and company house, and 91 per cent. to Armour Packing company. Today's margin will follow. —J.H.P."

Pratt testified that the letter was returned to him the following day with these figures of percentage margin for other firms in the combinations which he believed were written by J. O. Armour:

"110 1-2, 9 1/2, 10 1/2, M. Minnie 12, 8 plus 12, 95 to 100 per cent. this week."

Another letter dated June 20, 1905, contained a memorandum of margins which the witness identified as in the handwriting of Arthur Meek and the defendant was read.

Three Twenty-Four to Branch. Moose Jaw, Jan. 8.—A guide had a narrow escape from being frozen to death in the north country.

SOUTH DAKOTA TAFT MEN RALLY AT HURON

100 Representative Republicans Gathered to Organize for President in the Forthcoming Contest—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson Pays Tribute to President.

Huron, South Dakota, Jan. 6.—The gathering of representative Taft men from all parts of the state here yesterday filled every expectation. Nearly 100 were present and the meeting was exceptionally enthusiastic. The trains were late and many delegates did not arrive until after the proceedings had started. E. A. Abel, of Huron, candidate for the lieutenant governor, was chairman of the meeting.

The speaker was the late Senator B. B. McClary, secretary, Huron. He was chairman of the meeting. United States Senator Gamble and Congressman Charles M. Burke and Eben Rasmussen, each of whom paid a tribute to President Taft and his administration, urged the holding of a Taft delegation from this state to the Republican National convention. The speakers were greeted with shouts of applause.

The address of the day, however, was delivered in the afternoon by Secretary of Agriculture, Wilson. He told the delegates the president is so small a politician but a great intellect. ## FIRST AUTOMOBILE LEAVES HERE FOR LESSER SLAVE LAKE

J. J. Roberts and Two Coast Capitalists Start on 225 Mile Trip to Ground.

WILL GO OVER THE ICE FROM ATHABASCA LANDING Expect to Reach Ground by Monday at Non-Left Edmonton at 8 O'clock Last Night.

With the thermometer hovering around thirty below and a blizzard with drift on the distant shore at travel in an open rig, J. J. Roberts and a couple of Coast capitalists are speeding on their way to Ground. In an automobile. They left Edmonton at eight o'clock on Friday for Athabasca Landing, expecting to arrive at the latter place shortly after midnight.

It is the first time that the trip to Ground, covering a distance of 225 miles, has ever been undertaken by auto, and the result is awaited with keen interest among owners and drivers of machines. Mr. Roberts planned to leave the morning of the trip, and reach Ground some time Monday by noon if possible. Having accidents and unfavorable weather, in the shape of a storm, he figured the trip could be made in that length of time.

The party will probably remain in Ground for two or three days after their arrival there, and return to Edmonton the latter part of the week.

VALUE OF COX TESTING.

C. P. Whitley Delivers Address on Subject at Dairyman's Meeting. Campaign for Ontario Milk, Jan. 6.—At the concluding session this morning of the Dairyman's Association of Eastern Ontario, C. P. Whitley, dairy branch, Ottawa, delivered an address on the value of Cox testing.

Mr. Whitley said that a cow can return a profit of one per cent. she must give over 4,000 pounds of milk per year. On examining the records of 16,000 cows for last year, Mr. Whitley found that 52 per cent. gave less than 4,000 pounds, that is, over 100,000 cows were not profitable over several counties could not be said to yield any profit above the cost feed.

EYE WITNESS TELLS OF CAPTURE OF NANKING

United States sailor gives graphic account of fighting—How he fought at midnight—How he fired from a machine gun and shot down.

A member of the United States fleet, stationed near China, sends an interesting story of the capture of Nanking which he witnessed. In part it is as follows:

The night of November 23, 1911, was mysteriously captured by the rebels, and from our previous experience in Shanghai and Wooning, we decided that it would be a matter of only a few days before all the forts would go over to the rebels after a series of mindless and uninteresting encounters.

Sunday morning, November 24, however, soon saw real warfare begin. About 2 a.m. Tiger Hill opened its fire from Lion and Purple forts, which were immediately answered by the Imperialists, and a good brisk exchange of shot and shell began.

From our position almost Lion we could plainly see the batteries, the men working them and the rebel shells exploding on the hill. Lion Hill opened its shot and shell, but we could see its shots hitting on Tiger Hill, and really shot shooting was done. The rebel gunfire, too, three large guns in Nanking's wall, and one sharpshoot in the midst of a battery on Lion Hill, killed a few men and disabled a gun. A few shots were fired from the forts, but the rebels were not so easily deterred. We could not determine the damage on Tiger, but we could see it very clearly from the shells that fell on the shore. The rebels were not so easily deterred. We could not determine the damage on Tiger, but we could see it very clearly from the shells that fell on the shore. The rebels were not so easily deterred.

In the afternoon the rebels attempted a sortie on the city through holes in the wall made during the bombardment, but were repulsed with a loss estimated at 400. In this engagement General Wang was killed on the Imperial side. This ended the fighting on Monday.

During the early part of the morning's engagement all hands aboard the Albany manned the rails and rigging, loudly cheering both sides and making such remarks as "Go to it, kid!" "I'm betting on you, old boy!" etc., but the party soon went below to write letters or play cards, evidently preferring those diversions to watching a battle with the temperature at freezing point.

Monday, November 25, about 2:30 a.m., the rebel fleet, twelve small boats, have in sight from down the river and anchored out of gunshot from Lion Hill. About 11 a.m. the American consul's Chinese boy came aboard ship and announced that he would return again after five. All was quiet around the forts as advertised.

Until 2:15 p.m., when Tiger Hill started shelling. The Imperialists proved to be on the job by answering at once with their guns from Lion and Purple. Three shots were fired at the rebel fleet, all falling about 2,000 yards short, however. The rebels stood about an hour and a half.

Blockading the Show. A blockading sale show was given on the waterfront about 4:30 in the afternoon by a squad of Imperial soldiers. They dragged some sort of a prisoner down to the dock in front of the cable station, forced him to his knees, cut his head off, dragged across his vocal objectives on his part, and kicked the body into the river.

Monday's firing did little damage to either side. The commanders of the foreign men-of-war in port held a conference and decided to move out of range in case the rebel fleet attempted to come up the river and shell the city. Irregular firing was heard all night Monday.

At 10:30 Tuesday morning we moved our berth three miles up stream out of range of a possible naval attack. Our position gave us a good panoramic view of the whole situation, but we were too far away to see clearly what was going on. The American consul reported the capture of Purple Hill by the rebels about 11 o'clock in the morning. This seemed to place General Chang Shun in an even more serious situation. On the last stand at Lion Hill he was completely surrounded by the enemy and shot out of the fort. The rebels continued intermittently all day Tuesday. About 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the United States torpedo boat Denatur, coming up the river from Shanghai, was fired upon as she passed Lion Hill, being mistaken for a rebel ship, the shot landing about five miles ahead of her. The Denatur at once hit up a twenty-five knot clip and soon passed out of danger.

Money Firing at Midnight

Every firing commenced at midnight Tuesday and continued up to 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. The morning morning, with strong glasses, a rebel movement was made out along the beach below Shanghai, which proved to be a strong landing party. The Imperialists opened fire on this force at 12:45 in the afternoon and kept it up pretty lively for three quarters of an hour, when the firing ceased altogether. We concluded that the rebels were either repulsed or the Imperialists were holding their fire for a direct charge on the hill.

The rebel batteries on Tiger and Purple covered their infantry movement with heavy fire. An ominous calm prevailed until 1 a.m. Thursday, when the rebel fleet came up in range of Lion and Purple, shelling the hill and city for two hours, when they retired. The flames of fire from the ships and forts made a strange picture from our position. Exactly as the time ball dropped, noon of Thursday lay, the Imperial torpedos magazine at the foot of Lion Hill went up in the air with a tremendous explosion that seemed to shake earth's very foundations. When the smoke and debris cleared away the golden flag of China was still to be seen.

A few days before the siege began the Imperialists had stationed about 4,000 men around Pukow, a town opposite Nanking, to hold that side of the river. Thursday night and all day Friday a fierce engagement took place between these men and the rebel forces, which resulted in a partial victory for the rebels. The Imperialists retiring inland. Until midnight Friday a heavy fire was kept up around Nanking. About ten minutes after 7 a.m. Saturday the Imperialists of the Siege at this writing have not been estimated, but will probably number well up in the thousands.

Shan had escaped from the town about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, and at 7 o'clock was four miles inland from Pukow with 1,000 of his troops. The general was seated in his carriage, the commander of the Japanese man-of-war, which certainly seemed a breach of neutrality. General Chang Shun is one of the most notorious traitors in China. During the siege of Nanking he beheaded 713 people without trial. Two hundred and fifty-five Chinese students just returned from two years' schooling in Japan. It was reported from a good source that he devastated his own gunners who failed to hit the target.

The casualties of the Siege at this writing have not been estimated, but will probably number well up in the thousands.

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—Now that they see the way clear to a realization of their long cherished ambition for the establishment of a republican form of government in China, leaders of the revolutionary movement in this country are discussing plans for the unification of the Chinese people through a common language. It is intended by leaders of the movement to make English the language of business in China, but before this hope can be realized there is much educational work to be done in converting the more than 100 different dialects into an understandable language for the whole population of China.

Mr. Yen Chen, editor of a Chinese daily paper in this city, and one of the most highly educated Chinese on the Pacific Coast, writes on the subject of the revolutionary leaders today as follows:

English Has Been Taught

"The people of China have been taught by the inability to convey the people as a whole any advanced thought through the medium of single language. Throughout the entire study of 100 dialects are spoken, none having much in common with any other, and we have realized from the beginning that education along a common line more than any other one, that must be depended upon if China is to be a united nation. It is hoped for in this progressive movement."

NEWS AND VIEWS.

The full importance of the formation of the Calgary division of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association was not trickled into the minds of all hockey fans in the city. On the surface it means merely that Calgary will have hockey this winter and that there will be a team in the south with which to contend for the national championship. To those interested in the growth of amateurism in the West it means more than that. It means that the principal amateurism hockey association over commercialism which hoped to benefit by the prostitution of amateur sport.

The latter league has been broken, and the city of Calgary is the first of the West to have a team in the West.

But the Calgary Athletic Association is happy to help the mystery. "We can't publicize the players or the willing to pay money to the players or not. We just want the players to play who were willing for a condition under which they would not get into trouble. We can't publicize who will be taken in or not. We can't publicize who will be a member of a team by the Y.M.C.A. unless it's possible for the league to continue without them."

Only two amateur cards were issued to people by the name of Bishop. Three Bishops played. All are professionals. What will happen to the players on the Calgary A.C. and Banjo teams. According to the amateur lists every man on both teams will be his card.

to see the game and all were disappointed. The game was seen here since the days of the old tinny cup fights. At half time the crowd was so large that the referee and the players when they left the ice with the score 3 in their favor, but in the second half the local boys simply cut the game short. The home team had goals to the visitors two. The game was played off their feet in the first five minutes to hard on the department. They were tendered a banquet by the locals before leaving for the coast.

As for himself, he could not be paid to remain in the East, and news reached the city on May that Mrs. B. L. Miles, a former resident of the city, had come away after a very brief illness. Mr. and Mrs. Miles immediately went to Ontario to spend a holiday season, and shortly after their arrival deceased was taken ill. Deepest sympathy of the com-
